1. RECENT FANNIE MAE (FNMA) TRADING GUIDANCE POSTS 50% PROFIT

During the last week of May we began issuing both verbal and email trading guidance on FNMA, and subscribers that followed our advice were positioned to make a FIFTY PERCENT (50%!!) RETURN over three trading days.

This did not involve complicated short selling (although we gave guidance there as well), and we picked the buy and sell ranges, and followed up with both email and phone calls to insure that no one got left behind.

If you are still interested in trading FNMA, take these facts into consideration:

- Although FNMA is not technically marginable, it doesn't mean that it can't be margined in day trading accounts and shorted by those with access to institutional trading status.

- Also, just because naked short selling is illegal does not mean that it doesn't occur.
- The effects of momentum trading, the margin buying multiplier, short selling and the associated buyins make trading FNMA based purely on charts and or fundamentals highly unrealistic.

In summary, stock price range + unique range of circumstances = huge volatility with potentially exaggerated price swings.

UPDATED FNMA TRADING GUIDANCE:

Take a look at how once the volume and price peaked on May 29, the stock declined in both volume and price. The stock has since consolidated with recent support beginning to establish in the $1.80- $2.00 range:

However, as of 11:30 AM EST today, roughly 63mm shares have traded with a low of $1.48 and a high of $1.82, slicing through this level. This could be a short term buying opportunity.

If you are looking to buy the stock for the mid-term we suggest to look for an initial entry point somewhere around the low $1.35 to $1.55 range, with a follow up trade under the $1.15 level if it dips there.

Remember, be patient and let the market move into the right zone before you act. There are very large forces at work here, and short term movements may be volatile.

Don't jump in and try to "make something happen" as you can quickly erode recent profits and principal with a few bad trades. Stay within your comfort range as it is highly improbable that you will pick the lowest entry point. And remember, it's not about day trading but acquiring stocks with decent long term fundamentals that may present you with a good short term trading aspect.

 $14MM in pending revenues. AFAI has signed, to date, four off-take agreements for the sale of 3.7 million gallons of diesel. These agreements pre-sell the Company's entire production into the third year, and represent total revenues of approximately $14 million. This oil has not yet been produced, and sale of the oil is subject to AFAI successfully obtaining financing and completing production. For more information please refer to AFAI's 2012 FYE 10K.

* $1.89 per gallon production cost. AFAI has spent considerable time on research and development and field trials and has sourced labor, land and production costs as it relates to its production model. The seed -to-pump production cost estimate of $1.89 is currently an estimate based on many factors. These are not qualified projections, revenue forecasts or pro forma financial numbers. These are goals of what the company is seeking to target for gross profit margins. There is no assurance or projection that these numbers can be achieved; they are economic model goals subject to numerous factors including but not limited to obtaining successful financing and what is detailed within the company's 2012 FYE 10K and attached Forward-Looking Statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995.
